WILL THESE CHANGES BE BETTER According to articles we notice in the papers, our authorities down at Harrisburg are getting very good to the people in Pennsylvania, or at least, some of them. They have decided that the number or quota of club licenses is making it hard for some people, and that we do not have enough of them. Therefore, from now on, most any club, at any location, regardless of the number of licenses there are in that district, may apply for, and get, a club license. That will make it much easier, when one is in a hurry, and of course, make more business for the

In 1944, said Mrs. Rohde, 6,000 children under five years of age died in home accidents-and burns accounted for 2,000 of their number. In 1945, 7,500 children seriously crippled from burns were being cared for by state agencies. The number of similar victims in private homes is not known, but must be far greater.

"These children died or were crippled needlessly," added Mrs. Rohde. "These tragedies in most instances were due to adult carelessness or negligence. Let us not wait until tragedy has brought the full force of this to us. Let us begin a campaign of prevention at once."

Congress Plans To Revamp Executive Branch Savings To Taxpayers May Be Ten Billions Yearly Seventy Five Federal Transportation Bureaus

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON, May 27 .- Congress has its bit in its teeth and plans to enact at this session a law to reorganize and streamline the huge and sprawling executive branch of the federal government. If necessary, it has a collection of stories of 'extravagance and inefficiency to tell which will make you sit back in your chair and hold on tight

Not only will this reorganization of the executive branch greatly increase government efficiency, but, according to studies made by govrnment and business experts, may conceivably save American taxpayers around $10,000,000,000 a year. Rep. Clarence Brown (R), Ohio, has dropped in the legislative hopper H. R. 775, a bill for the establishment of a non-partisan committe to comb the 1,200 or more executive agencies in Washington, with the idea of eliminating the governmental duplication and deadwood that has accumulated through two world wars. The bill will be sponsored in the Senate by Henry Cabot Lodge (R), Massachusetts. Although hearings will not start on the Brown-Lodge bill for several weeks, it has already attracted such widespread and favorable interest both in and out of Congress, that its passage by a clear majority of both Houses is regarded as a virtual certainty. Since World War I a number of attempts have been made to reorganize the gargantuan executive branch of the government. Congress has enacted laws under three different administrations giving ertain Whitney Bolton who works the president the power to reorganize and streamline the various deor Vanguard Films in Culver City, partmnts, bureaus and agencies under his control. But nothing of real significance has been accomplished. The various executive agencies ingle-spaced pages all about the instead of being reduced in number, have continued to rapidly increase.

Nobody seems to know the "I don't know Miss Young," he number of these government establishments today, but they are believed writes, "Miss Grable, Miss Williams to be more than 1,200. The number of civilian employes of these government bureaus have shown a similar expansion; increasing from 438,057 in 1916 to 824,259 in 1936, and then to 2,766,165 in 1946.

During this period the payroll of these employes increased more than Then he tells me what fine house- 650 per cent, a figure fantastically out of proportion to the increase in the wealth and population of the nation. Maurice Moss Of Pittsburgh Delivers Inspiring Address At Mass Meeting

On Sunday, May 25, the local anch of the N.A.A.C.P. launched membership campaign for the oming year, a goal of 500 members aving been set by Thomas C. Far-

The mass meeting, held in Union Baptist church Sunday afternoon, as well attended and the address delivered by R. Maurice Moss, execuive secretary of the Pittsburgh Urban League proved most inspiring. He spoke on the subject. "Race Relations Today." In his discourse, Mr. Moss pointed out that employment for the Negro is his basic probem, since he has been mostly given kin and not the limit of his ability.

The Negro, he stated, is the biggest minority in America, and therefore proves the greatest test of democracy, yet he is not the only dispossessed group in this country, as the recent war proved there are no superior nor inferior races, and many allies have been brought to

Mr. Moss also stated, that since the forces against him are organized, it is very important that they become organized also to fight such opposition and that he has a long way to go before he becomes fully integrated into community life. Mrs. Lillian McHenry presided, and the speaker was introduced by Dr. James A. Gillespie.

Team captains reporting memcerships were: Mrs. Georgia Miller, Mrs. Carrie Cobb, Mrs. Modelia Clark, Mrs. Bessie Fitzhugh, R. T. Mitchell, and Dr. G. W. Garnett. The total number of members reported at this meeting was 120.

Preceding the mass meeting, a uncheon was served to members of he executive committee and guests from other organizations of the city. nonoring Mr. Moss, in charge of Mrs. Blanche Dillard.

Miss Rosa Brown, committee city hairman presided at a round table burgh conducted a housing survey and said that an expert could be that a committee be sent to the munities Greater New Castle Association, telling their plans and asking their

Must Safeguard World Against Nuclear Power

CHICAGO, May 27.— (INS)— David E. Lilienthal, chairman of the atomic energy commission, declared Monday, "There is no security for anyone" until international agreement safeguards the world against misuse of nuclear power.

The atomic chief in an address before the Inland Daily Press association stressed the necessity of keeping the American people fully informed on developments in nuclear energy. But he added:

"It is true that the American people on their own, without the agreement of other nations, cannot develop international action which will remove the threat of atomic Must Realize Implications Lilienthal said that if Americans understand the implications, both destructive and creative, of the new force, the time can come when "the peoples of the whole globe will also come to realize that there is no security for anyone unless international agreement safeguards the entire world against the misuse of atomic energy.

He emphasized that this decision will come about through the educational forces of which, he said, a free press is the most vital.

The commission chairman said it is simply not true that "all this atomic energy business" is over the head of the average American.

He added: "There is nothing more complicated about the essential facts than Will Make Commencement Address about dozens of scientific, technical and governmental matters that have become a part of the everyday thinking and public discussion around every cracker barrel and every soda fountain and in every school and press room in this coun-

White Line Painters Move To North Beaver

No Detour To Be Established When Atlantic Avenue Widening And Resurfacing Job Begins

Employes of the State Highway Department in Lawrence County who are engaged in painting white traffic lines on the highways of the county have moved their equipment to North Beaver Township and are working in the vicinity of Mt. Jackson and Enon Valley.

Accompanying State Police officers who are there to see that no motorist drives over the wet lines were forced to arrest one Ohio driver Monday, when he drove over the wet paint disregarding the warning flags. Other motorists will be arrested if the warnings are dis-

To Start Atlantic Ave. Alfred Martin, superintendent of the highway system, stated today, that he has been informed by the contracting firm which holds the contract for the Atlantic avenue widening and resurfacing work, that no detour will be established while that work progresses.

Following the widening of the road, the resurfacing material will be laid one lane at a time and no detour will be posted, but motorists will be requested to drive with caution while the work proceeds.

In the event that the good weather continues, the local highway department will begin numerous other maintenance projects that have been slated for the county roads. Work is to begin soon on the 'back road" to Pulaski which is a project of the local department.

Vegetable production and consumption were both at record levels in 1946.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

THEY'RE feuding in baseball. New York Yankees resent fines levied by Larry McPhail, Bill Veeck of the Cleveland Indians is angry because Cleveland's mayor permitted erection of a midget auto race dirt track at the municipal stadium and Sam Breadon of the Cardinals realizing that his farm system is decadent, and star players off to a poor start, sees the value of his franchise decreasing and said to be willing to sell the St. Louis club and subsidiaries for $2,000,000. . . . Ray Robinson and Jimmy Doyle are expected to draw $100,000, in Cleveland, June 17. . . . "If you can afford $10, for a ringside seat, you can give me $5." This is what Harry Jacobson, Euclid avenue clothing merchant of Cleveland told fans at a recent Cleveland fight. Within a few minutes he collected $120, which he sent to 11-year-old Glenwood Brann, Jr., the Malden, Mass., boy who lost both legs when burned at the stake in a "cowboy and Indians" game. . . Defending Champion Sammy Snead, Jimmy Demaret, and Vic Ghezzi plan to compete in the British Open golf tourney, July 2-4. Snead and Demaret will fly to England after the National P. G. A. tourney at Detroit, June 18-24. Ghezzi, skipping the P. G. A. will return to Britain with South Africa's Bobby Locke after the National Open at St. Louis, June 12-14.

Mercer County Coon Hunters Association will hold field trials, May 30, six miles south of Mercer on Route 19, one mile north of Leesburg. Lawrence County coon hunters attended the North Park Sportsman's club meeting, as guests of the Allegheny County club. Beaver County has joined the Western Pennsylvania Federation. . . Robert Hansen, 17 years old, of Newburgh, N. Y., who pitches and plays the outfield for Central Valley high school, recorded his third no-hit, no-run game of the season against Cornwall-On-Hudson and his fifth no-hitter in two years. He stands six feet two inches. He has received a few professional offers but is waiting until graduation next month before signing. . . Pvt. Ronald G. McMurry, Butler, R. ### Push Button Warfare Is Far Removed

Secretary Of War Patterson Gives Defense Of Universal Military Training

WASHINGTON, May 27 .- (INS)-Secretary of War Patterson told Congress Monday that "push button warfare is many years away and America need not fear a guided missile attack from any "possible enemies" in the near future.

Patterson's statement was contained in a lengthy defense of the war department's universal military training program addressed to Sen.

Lodge (R) Mass. It was in reply to criticism of the UMT plan by Hanson W. Baldwin of the New York Times.

Lodge called Patterson's review of U. S. military strategy in the future the "clearest most illuminating, most comprehensive and most authoritative statement" he has seen since he returned to the Senate from the armed forces.

Strategy Of Future

"In planning strategy for the future, America must face tomorrow as well as next month, next year, or two, the next decade, and the next decade, and the next score of years: "For tomorrow, or for next year, 'push-button' warfare is but a

"No possible enemies have now, or in the near future, will have any guided missiles with which to attack us from the Eurasian land

"Meanwhile, we must be prepared for the immediate future-not with so-called 'mass armies' but with balance armed forces."

"Revision and improvement is a continuing process," he added. "Our best advices are that 'push-button warfare is many years away."

Universal Training He said universal training offers a "sure saving in time" to prevent a "long war." Patterson declared that no "reasonable alternative" has been suggested.

The secetary pointed out that because America has no aggressive intentions, it "may be confronted with a long planned surprise offensive.' In such an eventuality, the U.S. would be forced to pass through an "initial defense phase." He argued and insisted that universal training is the "best means of shortening this

The secretary said that a "much larger army will be required without UMT than will be required with UMT to attain the same degree of

Absolute Essential He asserted

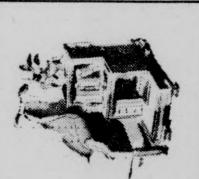

"It is the very speed and complexity of modern warfare which makes UMT, for the first time, an absolute essential to our military

"The speed of war requires that men are made effective much quicker than ever before. The complexity requires that they receive more training than ever before. "Further UMT is the only substitute for the strong allies who in our last two wars bore the brunt of the attack while we were building up our fighting forces.'

Silver money coined in Boston during the 17th century, bore a pine tree on the obverse side and were called "pine tree coins." They were issued in denominations of three, six and 12 pence.
